Hawthorn vinegar is a fruit vinegar product made primarily from hawthorn through alcoholic and acetic acid fermentation. It combines the nutritional value of hawthorn with the health benefits of vinegar, making it a unique food that integrates seasoning, beverage, and health maintenance.

Hawthorn vinegar is an important category of fruit vinegar. Through microbial fermentation, the sugars in hawthorn are converted into alcohol, and further into acetic acid, while retaining the unique organic acids, flavonoids, and other nutrients found in hawthorn.

Main Efficacy and Functions: Appetizing and digestive, relieving greasiness: This is the core function of hawthorn vinegar. Hawthorn is rich in organic acids, which effectively stimulate gastric juice secretion and enhance gastrointestinal motility, especially effective in digesting greasy foods such as meat.

Help regulate blood lipids: Studies have shown that the flavonoids and triterpenoids in hawthorn help lower serum total cholesterol and triglyceride levels, playing a positive role in maintaining cardiovascular health.
