Helicoil Wire Thread Inserts are precision-engineered helical coils made of durable materials (typically stainless steel or phosphor bronze) designed to repair, reinforce, or create high-strength internal threads in softer or worn materials. These inserts feature a diamond-shaped wire profile that coils into a threaded form, providing a resilient, wear-resistant mating surface for screws or bolts. Installed into pre-tapped holes, they distribute load evenly, prevent thread stripping, and improve vibration resistance in applications like aerospace, automotive, and machinery.
