The global Hollow Nail System market size is predicted to grow from US$ 666 million in 2025 to US$ 998 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.0% from 2026 to 2032.

Hollow screw systems are orthopedic internal fixation implants with a hollow structure, allowing for precise insertion under guide pin guidance. They are widely used in fracture fixation, trauma surgery, and minimally invasive orthopedic procedures. The hollow structure improves surgical precision, reduces tissue damage, and enhances postoperative fixation stability. The upstream of the industry chain includes medical metal materials, precision machining, and surface treatment; the midstream involves implant manufacturing and quality testing; and the downstream primarily consists of hospitals, orthopedic surgeons, and rehabilitation medical services. In 2025, the global production of hollow screw systems was approximately 1.62 million units, based on an average unit price of approximately US$420. The overall gross profit margin of the industry ranged from 55% to 70%, reflecting the high technological and regulatory barriers to orthopedic implants. The global production capacity of hollow screw systems in 2025 was approximately 2.16 million units.

United States market for Hollow Nail System is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.
