Industrial Odor Control Scrubbers are environmental protection equipment that use liquids (such as water, chemical solutions) to contact gaseous pollutants to remove odorous substances in industrial waste gas through physical absorption, chemical reaction or biodegradation. Its core function is to transfer harmful gases (such as hydrogen sulfide, ammonia, volatile organic compounds, etc.) in waste gas to the liquid phase or decompose them into harmless substances, thereby purifying waste gas and reducing odor concentration. The scrubber achieves efficient gas-liquid contact through spraying, filler adsorption, ion oxidation and other technologies. It is suitable for treating large-flow, low-concentration odorous waste gas and has the advantages of mature technology, simple equipment and low operating cost.

United States market for Industrial Odor Control Scrubbers is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million by 2031, at a CAGR of % from 2025 through 2031.

China market for Industrial Odor Control Scrubbers is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million by 2031, at a CAGR of % from 2025 through 2031.
