A laminate trimmer (or trimming router) is a small version of a wood router, normally used to trim laminate such as Formica. It generally has a 1/4-inch collet. Typical laminate trimmers spin their bits at up to 30,000 RPM. Some models provide variable speed control. Laminate trimmers evolved, as their name suggests, as a specialized tool for that particular trade. Laminate trimmers excel at this task due to their light weight and one-handed operation.

Laminated trimmers are widely used in many downstream applications such as gardening, agriculture, road maintenance, etc. As these fields grow, so will the demand for laminated trimmers. Especially in the construction of smart cities and green gardens, the application prospects of laminated trimmers are even broader.
