Abstracts

According to this study, the global Magnetic Rope Testing market size will reach US$ 407 million by 2031.

Magnetic rope testing is a non-destructive testing technology based on the principle of electromagnetic induction. It is mainly used to evaluate the internal and surface defects (such as broken wires, wear, corrosion, fatigue damage, etc.) of ferromagnetic ropes (such as steel wire ropes and cables). The core principle is to apply an external magnetic field to the rope to magnetize it. When there is a defect in the rope, the magnetic permeability at the defect changes, resulting in magnetic field leakage or magnetic field distribution distortion. The sensor then captures these magnetic signal changes to determine the location, type and severity of the defect.

United States market for Magnetic Rope Testing is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million by 2031, at a CAGR of % from 2025 through 2031.

China market for Magnetic Rope Testing is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million by 2031, at a CAGR of % from 2025 through 2031.

Europe market for Magnetic Rope Testing is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million by 2031, at a CAGR of % from 2025 through 2031.

Global key Magnetic Rope Testing players cover Ranger Lifting, Traction Levage, Zurich Engineering, Certex UK, Mennens Netherlands, etc. In terms of revenue, the global two largest companies occupied for a share nearly % in 2024.
