The global Medical Silicone Gel Dressing market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2026 to 2032.

Medical silicone gel dressings are mainly used in the prevention and treatment of hypertrophic scars on the skin surface after burns, traumas and various operations. They only play an auxiliary role. Scars are also a manifestation of self-repair after skin damage. The chance of scarring is relatively small. For some scars that affect the appearance, silicone gel can be used to repair them appropriately to reduce the occurrence of scars. Silicone gel is mainly used to remove scars, and the effect is very good. For scars formed by surgery, burns and various accidents, the main component of silicone gel is silicon copper, which can play a role in diluting scars.
