The global Merger and Acquisition Advisory Service market size is predicted to grow from US$ 27939 million in 2025 to US$ 40491 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.2% from 2026 to 2032.

Mergers and acquisitions (M&A) advisory refers to the services provided by professional service organizations to enterprises throughout the entire process or at specific stages of transactions such as mergers, acquisitions, sales, consolidations, restructuring, or strategic partnerships. Its core value lies in reducing transaction risks, improving valuation rationality, optimizing transaction structure, accelerating the closing process, and achieving strategic synergy goals.

The development of M&A advisory services is primarily driven by factors such as the urgent need for enterprises to achieve strategic transformation through inorganic growth, the integration opportunities arising from accelerated industrial restructuring and technological change, transaction windows created by changes in capital market liquidity, increased activity in private equity and industrial capital, and the increasingly complex cross-border investment and regulatory environment. As market competition intensifies, more and more companies are using M&A as a crucial means to acquire core technologies, expand market share, optimize supply chains, or exit non-core businesses. Simultaneously, the rising financial, legal, tax, and integration risks involved in transactions are prompting companies to rely on professional advisors to improve decision-making quality and execution efficiency, driving the continued penetration of M&A advisory services from large enterprises to SMEs and emerging industries.
