Abstracts

The global Mobile Truck Wash System market size is predicted to grow from US$ 475 million in 2025 to US$ 720 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.2% from 2026 to 2032.

A mobile truck wash system is a portable cleaning solution designed to wash and maintain trucks and other large vehicles at various locations, without the need for a fixed washing station. These systems can be mounted on a trailer, truck, or other transportable platform, allowing for easy setup and operation wherever the vehicles are located. In 2024, global Mobile Truck Wash System production reached approximately 11,408 units, with an average global market price of around 40 K US$/Unit. The production capacity of Mobile Truck Wash System reaches 14,300 units, and the industry's gross profit margin is approximately between 25% and 40%.

Driving factors in the mobile truck wash system market include the tightening of environmental and hygiene regulations on fleet cleanliness, wastewater discharge and pollutant control, which pushes logistics, construction, mining and waste-management fleets to adopt compliant, contained washing solutions instead of informal on-site cleaning. Growing fleet sizes and asset values in long-haul trucking, e-commerce delivery and leasing businesses also increase the need to protect vehicle paintwork, branding and residual value through regular, standardized washing. At the same time, labor cost inflation and driver shortages encourage operators to move from manual washing to semi- or fully-automated mobile systems that reduce downtime and on-site manpower. The expansion of just-in-time logistics hubs, distribution centers and remote operations favors mobile units that can travel between sites, avoiding investment in fixed wash bays and associated civil works.
