The global Mortar Centrifugal Spraying System market size is predicted to grow from US$ 454 million in 2025 to US$ 613 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.5% from 2026 to 2032.

In 2024, the global production of Mortar Centrifugal Spraying System will reach 56,870 units, with an average selling price of US$8,000 per unit.

A centrifugal mortar spraying system utilizes a high-speed rotating nozzle to evenly apply mortar to the interior of pipes or manholes. This system uses centrifugal force to propel the mortar in a circular motion onto the surface, creating a continuous, dense coating. It is widely used in trenchless repairs, municipal pipeline reinforcement, and anti-corrosion coating applications. Compared to traditional manual plastering or spraying methods, centrifugal spraying offers advantages such as faster application speed, more uniform coating, and adaptability to complex geometries. It is particularly well-suited for repairing the interior walls of circular or enclosed spaces, such as manholes, box culverts, and drainage pipes. The system typically consists of a mortar pumping unit, a rotating nozzle, a control system, and a delivery pipeline. It can be operated automatically or semi-automatically and supports a variety of mortar formulations, such as aluminate anti-corrosion mortars and polymer-modified mortars.

United States market for Mortar Centrifugal Spraying System is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.
