Abstracts

The global Nicergoline API market size is predicted to grow from US$ 15.35 million in 2025 to US$ 18.66 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 2.9% from 2026 to 2032.

Nicergoline API exerts vasodilation by selectively antagonizing ??A-adrenergic receptors and improves brain microcirculation and metabolic functions. As a core raw material in the pharmaceutical industry chain, the API must comply with international pharmacopoeia standards such as EP and USP, and strictly control key quality attributes such as purity (usually ?99%), impurity spectrum and stability to ensure its bioavailability and controllability of clinical efficacy.

The Nicergoline API (raw material drug) market has shown a steady growth trend in recent years, mainly driven by the increasing global aging and the rising prevalence of neurodegenerative diseases (such as Alzheimer's disease and vascular dementia). Pharmaceutical companies such as Pfizer, Teva and Chinese local manufacturers (such as Shandong Qidu Pharmaceutical and Hainan Puli Pharmaceutical) occupy an important position in the supply of raw materials. The competition landscape is concentrated, and leading companies consolidate their market share through technology optimization and capacity expansion. On the technical level, the demand for high-purity (?98%) raw materials has increased to meet the production standards of injections and oral preparations. At the same time, the popularity of generic drugs has put forward higher requirements for cost control.
