Nitrogen-infused coffee is a type of cold brew coffee that has been infused with nitrogen gas. This process involves adding nitrogen to the cold brew coffee, creating tiny bubbles that give the drink a smooth, creamy texture and a frothy, cascading effect when poured. The nitrogen infusion enhances the overall sensory experience, providing a rich mouthfeel and a less acidic taste compared to traditional iced coffee. Nitrogen-infused coffee is typically served cold, either on tap in cafes or in ready-to-drink cans or bottles, and can be enjoyed black or with added flavors and milk alternatives.
