The global No-Exam Life Insurance market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of % from 2026 to 2032.

No-Exam life insurance refers to a life insurance product that the insured can directly purchase without undergoing routine medical examination procedures when purchasing insurance. No-Exam does not mean that the insurance company does not pay any attention to the insured's health status. When underwriting, the insurance company will still assess the insured's risk through other means, such as asking about health status, family medical history, past medical records, etc. If the insured conceals important health information when purchasing insurance, it may lead to disputes in the insurance contract when making claims.
