Abstracts

The global Office Equipment Rental Service market size is predicted to grow from US$ 10630 million in 2025 to US$ 16420 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.5% from 2026 to 2032.

Office equipment rental services refer to a business service where businesses or individuals can obtain the right to use office equipment through leasing without having to purchase it outright. The types of equipment typically leased include printers, copiers, computers, servers, projectors, office furniture, and other office automation equipment. Service providers usually offer not only the equipment itself but also complementary services such as installation, maintenance, technical support, and regular upgrades, helping businesses reduce initial investment costs, optimize cash flow, improve equipment management efficiency, and flexibly adjust equipment configurations according to business needs.

Office equipment rental services have a broad prospect globally, especially among SMEs and startups. With the acceleration of enterprise digital transformation and the popularization of remote and flexible work models, the demand for high-quality office equipment is constantly increasing. However, the high cost of one-time purchases or short replacement cycles make leasing a more economical and flexible option. At the same time, the concepts of environmental protection and sustainable development are driving the trend of equipment sharing and recycling. In the future, office equipment rental will gradually develop towards intelligent, digital, and full lifecycle management, providing enterprises with more customized and on-demand solutions.
