Offshore aluminium helideck refers to a helicopter landing platform constructed primarily from high-strength, marine-grade aluminium alloys and installed on offshore structures such as oil rigs, FPSOs, and wind farm substations. Aluminium helidecks offer significant advantages over steel, including lower weight, corrosion resistance, and easier installation and maintenance. These helidecks comply with international standards (e.g., CAP 437, ICAO Annex 14) and are engineered to support helicopter operations in harsh offshore environments while minimizing structural load on the host platform.

United States market for Offshore Aluminium Helideck is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million by 2031, at a CAGR of % from 2025 through 2031.

China market for Offshore Aluminium Helideck is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million by 2031, at a CAGR of % from 2025 through 2031.
