Olaparib API refers to the active pharmaceutical ingredient (API) in medications containing olaparib, a drug used primarily in cancer treatment. Olaparib is a PARP (poly ADP-ribose polymerase) inhibitor, which works by blocking PARP enzymes involved in DNA repair. This inhibition is particularly effective in cancer cells with BRCA1 or BRCA2 mutations, as these cells rely heavily on PARP for repair. By inhibiting PARP, olaparib causes DNA damage to accumulate in cancer cells, leading to cell death.
