The global One-piece Soft Capsule market size is predicted to grow from US$ 974 million in 2025 to US$ 1399 million in 2031; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.2% from 2025 to 2031.

Softgels (or soft capsules) are one-piece capsules that are hermetically sealed that contain liquids or semisolid fills.

The one-piece soft capsule market is experiencing growth as a convenient and versatile solution for encapsulating liquid or semi-solid substances. These capsules are made from a single piece of gelatin or plant-based material, eliminating the need for a separate cap and body. One-piece soft capsules are commonly used to encapsulate dietary supplements, vitamins, pharmaceuticals, and nutraceuticals. Their seamless design ensures better product stability, reduced risk of leakage, and enhanced bioavailability. As consumers seek user-friendly and easily digestible forms of supplementation, the demand for one-piece soft capsules is increasing. The market's expansion is driven by their suitability for a wide range of products, efficient manufacturing processes, and appeal to health-conscious consumers looking for convenient and effective delivery methods for various health-enhancing substances.
