Abstracts

The global One Time Fax market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2026 to 2032.

One Time Fax, also known as a single-use fax, refers to a fax transmission that is sent once and cannot be reused. It is a type of fax service that is typically used for sending documents that are not expected to be received again, such as legal documents, contracts, and invoices. The document is scanned into a digital format and sent via fax, with the recipient only receiving a copy once. There is no ability to forward or store the document after it is received.

The industry trend of One Time Fax (OTF) mainly focuses on the usage of digital document sharing and electronic signatures to replace traditional paper-based processes. With the advancements in technology, businesses are moving towards more efficient and secure ways of document exchange, which often involve the use of cloud-based platforms and digital signatures. As a result, the demand for OTF may be decreasing as businesses adopt more convenient and convenient digital solutions.
