Online mental health therapy, also known as teletherapy or telehealth, is a form of therapy that is conducted through video calls, phone calls, or messaging platforms. It allows individuals to receive mental health support and counseling from licensed therapists or counselors remotely, without the need to meet in person. This form of therapy can be convenient for individuals who may have difficulty accessing traditional in-person therapy, such as those with physical disabilities, busy schedules, or living in remote areas. It can also be a more affordable option for some individuals. Online mental health therapy can be effective in treating a variety of mental health issues, including anxiety, depression, stress, and trauma.

The global Online Mental Health Therapy market size is projected to grow from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million in 2030; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of % from 2024 to 2030.
