According to our LPI (LP Information) latest study, the global Open-ended Funds (OEF) market size was valued at US$ million in 2023. With growing demand in downstream market, the Open-ended Funds (OEF) is forecast to a readjusted size of US$ million by 2030 with a CAGR of % during review period.

The research report highlights the growth potential of the global Open-ended Funds (OEF) market. Open-ended Funds (OEF) are expected to show stable growth in the future market. However, product differentiation, reducing costs, and supply chain optimization remain crucial for the widespread adoption of Open-ended Funds (OEF). Market players need to invest in research and development, forge strategic partnerships, and align their offerings with evolving consumer preferences to capitalize on the immense opportunities presented by the Open-ended Funds (OEF) market.

An open-ended fund is a diversified portfolio of pooled investor money that can issue an unlimited number of shares. The fund sponsor sells shares directly to investors and gives a fair payback. These shares are priced daily, based on their current net asset value (NAV). It allows investors to enter and exit as per their convenience.

Open-End Funds (OEF), also known as open-end mutual funds, are investment funds that are open to continuous subscriptions and redemptions by investors. These funds pool money from investors to invest in a diversified portfolio of securities, such as stocks, bonds, or other financial instruments. Increased Demand for Passive Funds: Passive investment strategies, such as index funds and exchange-traded funds (ETFs), have gained popularity due to their lower fees and performance tracking of market indices. Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) investing has seen growing interest, leading to the launch of ESG-focused open-end funds. Investors seek funds aligned with their values and sustainability goals.
