The global Outsourced Website Development Services market size is predicted to grow from US$ 13350 million in 2025 to US$ 19680 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.8% from 2026 to 2032.

Outsourced website development services refers to a business cooperation model in which an enterprise or individual entrusts website design, development, maintenance and other related work to a professional third-party service provider. This service model allows customers to use external professional skills and resources to achieve their website construction and operation goals in a more efficient and economical way.

The growth of the outsourced website development market is primarily driven by the urgent need for digital transformation, the operational pressure to reduce costs and increase efficiency, and the rapidly evolving internet environment. Enterprises, particularly small and medium-sized enterprises, often lack in-house professional development teams and the ability to sustain technological investment. Outsourcing website development to professional service providers not only provides access to cutting-edge technology and extensive project experience at a lower cost, but also significantly shortens launch cycles and allows for rapid response to market changes, allowing them to focus on their core business and accelerate online business expansion and brand building.
