The global Pallet Collar market size is predicted to grow from US$ 163 million in 2025 to US$ 229 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.0% from 2026 to 2032.

In 2025, global pallet collar production reached approximately 4.8 m units, the average price is 35 usd/unit. Pallet collar is a vertical plate or fence structure installed around the standard pallet. Its main function is to expand the loading space of the pallet and stabilize the goods. It is usually made of plastic, wood or metal, connected to the tray body by assembly or folding, which can transform the original flat tray into a box container for stackable goods, effectively preventing the goods from collapsing or slipping during transportation and storage.

Market Concentration and Key Players:

From an international perspective, the market concentration of pallet hoarding is relatively high, mainly concentrated in developed countries in Europe and America. For example, Craemer and Kronus and other large manufacturers; from the domestic point of view, there is still a lot of room for the development of pallet boards.

Manufacturing Process and Market Trends:

The manufacturing process of pallet boards varies significantly due to their different materials. Plastic enclosure mainly adopts injection molding technology, through the mold one-time molding of the plate with hinge and buckle structure, its advantage lies in the efficient production of complex structure and accurate size units. Metal coaming is mostly made of steel plate through stamping, bending, welding and surface coating to ensure its structural strength and corrosion resistance. Wood panels rely on traditional sawing, grinding and assembly processes. In recent years, more functional antistatic coaming has attracted attention, and the key to its manufacture lies in mixing permanent antistatic masterbatches into plastic raw materials, or conducting coating treatment on the finished surface to ensure stable electrostatic dissipation performance.

The current market trend clearly tends to improve the convenience of operation and overall efficiency, folding or quick disassembly of plastic hoardings because of its significant savings in storage and logistics space and favored. As environmental regulations tighten, renewable materials and single-material designs that can be fully recycled become research and development priorities. Driven by the development of intelligent warehousing logistics systems, hoardings and pallets are also evolving towards standardization and modularization in order to better integrate into automated handling and identification systems. In addition, customer demand is shifting from a single load-bearing function to customized protection solutions for specific industries, requiring higher impact resistance, cleanliness or electrostatic protection levels, reflecting the market's continued pursuit of multifunctional integrated packaging.
