The global Payer Authentication market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2031; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2025 to 2031.

Payer Authentication (also known as 3-D Secure) is a solution created by the credit card associations to provide additional fraud protection by asking cardholders to authenticate themselves to their issuing bank at the time of purchase.

Biometric Authentication: The use of biometrics (fingerprint, facial recognition, voice recognition) for payer authentication has been a prominent trend. Biometrics offer a high level of security and convenience, leading to their increased adoption in various payment systems.

Two-Factor Authentication (2FA) and Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA): The implementation of two-factor authentication and multi-factor authentication has gained traction. This involves combining multiple authentication methods such as passwords, OTPs (one-time passwords), and biometrics to enhance security during transactions.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Machine Learning (ML): AI and ML are being used to analyze patterns and behaviors, helping in the detection of fraudulent activities and improving payer authentication processes. These technologies enhance fraud prevention and contribute to a more secure payment ecosystem.
