PEG (polyethylene glycol) hydrogel dural sealant is a medical adhesive used during neurosurgical procedures to seal dural tears or leaks, which occur in the protective membrane surrounding the brain and spinal cord. This sealant is composed of PEG, which forms a hydrogel when applied to the surgical site, creating a flexible and biocompatible barrier. The hydrogel effectively prevents cerebrospinal fluid (CSF) leakage, promoting proper healing and reducing the risk of postoperative complications such as infections or persistent CSF leaks. PEG hydrogel dural sealants are favored for their ease of application, rapid formation, strong adhesive properties, and ability to conform to irregular surfaces, ensuring a watertight closure of dural defects.

The global PEG Hydrogel Dural Sealant market size is projected to grow from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million in 2030; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of % from 2024 to 2030.
