The global Personalized Vitamin Supplements market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2026 to 2032.

Personalized vitamin supplements are tailored nutritional products designed to meet an individual's specific health needs, dietary habits, genetic profile, and lifestyle factors. Unlike standard multivitamins, these supplements are customized based on data gathered from health assessments, DNA tests, blood tests, or personal consultations with nutritionists or healthcare providers. The goal is to provide optimal nutrient levels that address unique deficiencies, support health goals, and improve overall well-being. This personalized approach aims to enhance the effectiveness of supplementation by targeting precise needs rather than using a one-size-fits-all solution, making it a growing trend in the wellness industry.

United States market for Personalized Vitamin Supplements is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.
