The global Pet Care Professional Insurance market size is predicted to grow from US$ 1296 million in 2025 to US$ 2750 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 11.4% from 2026 to 2032.

Pet care professional insurance is an insurance product offered to individuals or organizations providing pet care services, designed to provide liability protection for professionals involved in the pet care process. This type of insurance primarily covers liability for damages arising from pet injury, loss, death, or property loss caused by negligence, error, accidents, or other unforeseen events. Insurance can protect pet care professionals from exorbitant compensation claims while enhancing consumer trust in the quality and safety of pet care services.

With the rapid development of the global pet industry, the level of professionalism in pet care is also continuously improving. The demand for services such as pet grooming, pet care, and pet training is constantly increasing, especially given the growing emphasis on pet owners' health, emotional well-being, and safety of their pets. This has led to a growing need for insurance coverage among professionals. Furthermore, pet care professionals face certain liability risks, such as pet injury and accidents, prompting insurance companies to develop insurance products specifically for this industry. With increasing consumer awareness of pet safety and the gradual improvement of laws and regulations in various countries, the pet care professional insurance market is expected to have a bright future. It is anticipated that in the coming years, as the pet industry further matures, pet care professional insurance will become the industry standard, providing more reliable protection for pet care service providers and consumers.
