Abstracts

The global Pet Cleaning and Grooming Products market size is predicted to grow from US$ 3600 million in 2025 to US$ 5866 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 7.3% from 2026 to 2032.

Pet grooming and cleaning products refer to a range of functional consumer products designed specifically for family companion animals such as dogs and cats to maintain their hygiene, skin health, coat condition, and neat and beautiful appearance.

The pet grooming and cleaning products market continues to grow, primarily driven by the increasing number of pets worldwide, the growing trend of pets becoming family members, and the upgrading of pet consumption. More and more consumers are prioritizing pet health, skin care, odor management, and appearance, leading to a rapid increase in demand for shampoos, grooming products, oral care, and deodorizing products. With the popularization of high-end pet care concepts, natural plant-based formulas, hypoallergenic care, medicated shampoos, and functional grooming products are receiving more attention. Simultaneously, the expansion of pet grooming salons, veterinary hospitals, and chain pet service institutions has also driven the growth in professional grooming and cleaning product consumption. E-commerce channels and social media promotion have further increased consumer acceptance of pet care products, while the widespread adoption of smart pet care devices, no-rinse cleaning products, and portable grooming supplies is continuously enriching market application scenarios. With the younger generation becoming the primary pet owner and the increasing trend towards more refined pet ownership, pet grooming and cleaning products are continuously developing towards higher-end, more functional, safer, and more professional products.
