The United States and Canada have a substantial pet ownership rate and a well-developed pet care market. The adoption of smart pet products, including water dispensers, is relatively high in this region. European countries also have a strong pet ownership culture and are showing increasing interest in pet smart products, driving the demand for smart water dispensers. The Asia-Pacific region is witnessing growth in pet ownership, particularly in urban areas. As disposable income rises, pet owners are investing in advanced pet care products, including smart water dispensers. The pet smart water dispenser market is expected to continue growing as pet owners seek innovative solutions to improve their pets' well-being.
