The global Plastic Flocking Machine market size is predicted to grow from US$ 215 million in 2025 to US$ 318 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.2% from 2026 to 2032.

In 2025, global plastic flocking machine production reached approximately 2,100 units. A Plastic Flocking Machine is a special equipment designed for flocking treatment on the surface of plastic products. It adheres fiber fluff evenly to the adhesive-coated plastic surface through electrostatic or mechanical methods, forming a flocked layer with soft texture and decorative effects.

The equipment generally consists of a gluing system, electrostatic generation system, flocking system and curing device. It enables continuous or batch surface treatment of plastic products.

Widely applied in automotive interiors, household goods, cosmetic packaging, daily consumer goods and other fields, plastic flocking machines mainly improve product appearance texture, anti-slip performance and added value. They are one of the key processing equipment for the functional surface treatment of plastics.

The plastic flocking machine market has been gradually developing in recent years, driven by the upgrading of high-end consumer products and the growing demand for functional and aesthetic surface treatment in industrial products. As an important type of plastic surface processing equipment, flocking machines are mainly used in automotive interiors, household goods, and high-end packaging applications. They enhance product value by improving tactile feel and visual appearance.

With continuously increasing consumer expectations for texture, aesthetics, and functionality, as well as the manufacturing industry's shift toward precision and high-end development, the application scope of plastic flocking technology has been steadily expanding. Meanwhile, the development of eco-friendly materials and automated production technologies is pushing flocking equipment toward higher efficiency, lower energy consumption, and greater intelligence.

Overall, although this market remains a niche segment, it is showing steady growth driven by demand from multiple downstream industries. Industry competition is increasingly concentrating on equipment manufacturers with strong capabilities in automation integration and process innovation.
