A shopping cart is a shopping tool commonly found in supermarkets, shopping malls and large retail stores. It is usually made of metal or plastic and has a solid frame and four wheels. The front wheels are mostly universal wheels for easy control and steering. . The shopping cart design includes a large-capacity basket for various items and ergonomic handles for easy push by customers. It can not only carry a large number of goods and reduce the shopping burden, but also provide convenient transportation functions. In addition, some shopping carts are equipped with additional features such as child seats, cup holders and hooks to increase their practicality. The application of modern technology has also given rise to smart shopping carts with automatic checkout and navigation functions. Shopping cart usage guidelines include avoiding overloading and returning items correctly to ensure safety and convenience. Overall, push carts play an important role in enhancing the shopping experience, increasing efficiency and convenience.
