An RDP (Remote Desktop Protocol) VPS (Virtual Private Server) Server is a virtualized computing environment that allows users to remotely access and manage a server's desktop interface over the internet using the Remote Desktop Protocol. This type of server provides the flexibility and scalability of a VPS, enabling users to install software, manage files, and run applications as if they were working directly on a physical machine. The RDP connection offers a secure and efficient way to access the server from anywhere, making it ideal for businesses or individuals who need remote access to their server resources.

The RDP (Remote Desktop Protocol) VPS (Virtual Private Server) market is experiencing robust growth, driven by increasing demand for remote work solutions and cloud computing. The market size is expanding as more businesses and individuals seek scalable, cost-effective virtual environments for various applications.
