The global Retail Loss Prevention Platform market size is predicted to grow from US$ 1639 million in 2025 to US$ 3546 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 11.7% from 2026 to 2032.

A Retail Loss Prevention (LP) Platform is an integrated, data-driven software system designed to identify, mitigate, and reduce shrinkage—the loss of inventory or revenue due to theft (employee or customer), administrative errors, supplier fraud, or operational inefficiencies—in retail environments. Unlike traditional loss prevention tools (e.g., standalone CCTV, manual inventory audits), modern LP platforms combine video analytics, IoT sensors, point-of-sale (POS) data integration, and predictive algorithms to enable proactive, real-time loss detection and operational optimization.

These platforms serve as a central command hub for retail loss prevention teams, store managers, and corporate executives, with a core goal of minimizing shrinkage (which typically costs the global retail industry 1–3% of annual revenue) while improving customer experience and employee productivity.

United States market for Retail Loss Prevention Platform is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.
