The global Retail Shrinkage Control Software market size is predicted to grow from US$ 1238 million in 2025 to US$ 2003 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 7.1% from 2026 to 2032.

Retail Shrinkage Control Software refers to systems designed to help retailers identify, flag, analyze, and mitigate losses arising from inventory discrepancies, theft, internal fraud, return fraud, POS anomalies, pricing errors, spoilage/expiry, and process inefficiencies. Core data is typically sourced from POS systems, inventory management systems, ERPs, WMS, CCTV, EAS/RFID, electronic shelf labels, self-checkout systems, loyalty programs, return systems, and store incident reports. Unlike traditional security surveillance, this type of software emphasizes data integration, anomaly detection, loss attribution, store risk scoring, incident resolution workflows, employee activity auditing, AI-based video analytics, return fraud detection, and centralized loss management.

Traditional retail shrinkage control focused primarily on external theft and EAS alarms, but the scope has gradually expanded to include return fraud, employee misconduct, missed scans at self-checkout, inventory discrepancies, promotional pricing errors, supply chain shortages, and online-offline fraud. Technologies such as AI cameras, pose and behavior recognition, video search, alerts for known suspects or vehicles, and anomaly detection at self-checkout are rapidly being deployed in stores. Verkada's retail shrinkage solution emphasizes AI video search, POS integration, and real-time alerts to combat organized retail crime, employee theft, and store shrinkage, while companies like Veesion utilize motion and gesture recognition to identify suspicious actions such as the surreptitious taking or concealment of merchandise.
