Robotic floor scrubbers are advanced cleaning machines that utilize artificial intelligence and automation technologies to perform floor cleaning tasks autonomously. These robots are designed to navigate through various environments and efficiently clean different types of flooring surfaces.

Robotic floor scrubbers typically consist of a motorized scrubbing head with rotating brushes or pads for effective cleaning. They also have sensors and mapping technology that allows them to detect obstacles and map out the cleaning area. This enables them to create efficient cleaning paths while avoiding collisions with objects and walls. These robots are equipped with onboard water tanks and cleaning solution dispensers, allowing them to apply the necessary amount of water and detergent to effectively clean the floor. They also have vacuum capabilities to remove the dirty water from the floor. Some models offer additional features like UV sterilization for disinfection purposes.
