Saffron-Based cosmetics are a type of skin care and beauty products that have emerged in recent years. They use saffron as the main ingredient or add saffron extracts, and have multiple functions and characteristics. Saffron contains a variety of active ingredients and has excellent antioxidant effects. It can effectively neutralize free radicals, repair damaged cells, and slow down the aging of the skin. At the same time, its own fragrance can also play a soothing role in the skin care process, providing nourishment to the skin while making the user feel physically and mentally happy. Saffron, a spice known for its bright colors and high prices, is being used in serums, moisturizers, masks, cleansers, and even hair care products. Saffron can improve skin texture and elasticity, especially for the vast number of people who pursue younger skin.

United States market for Saffron-Based Cosmetics is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.
