The global Shotcrete-sprayed Concrete market size is predicted to grow from US$ 38750 million in 2025 to US$ 47420 million in 2031; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 3.4% from 2025 to 2031.

The impact of the latest U.S. tariff measures and the corresponding policy responses from countries worldwide on market competitiveness, regional economic performance, and supply chain configurations will be comprehensively evaluated in this report.

Shotcrete-sprayed concrete is a specialty concrete that is projected at a high velocity on the construction surface through a sealed and pressure-resistant hose. Application of shotcrete-sprayed concrete is based on a flexible and economical technique. The concrete mix is blown from a spraying nozzle onto the construction surface. It stabilizes and supports structures in concrete applications without the use of any molds.

During 2017, the wet mix process accounted for the major shares of the shotcrete-sprayed concrete market. Benefits such as the efficient applications of concrete, less rebound formation, and cost effectiveness, will contribute to the growth of this market segment in the coming years. Moreover, the increased usage of wet-mix process for different application industries such as tunneling, underground construction, and mining will also drive the growth prospects of the segment in this global market.
