Abstracts

The global Single Offset Printing Blanket market size is predicted to grow from US$ 450 million in 2025 to US$ 612 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.6% from 2026 to 2032.

The limiting factors of sheet-fed offset printing blankets mainly include the following aspects:

Printing speed: The printing speed of sheet-fed offset printing blankets is relatively low and cannot meet the needs of high-speed printing.

Ink compatibility: Different brands and types of inks may have different chemical reactions on the blanket, affecting the printing effect.

Printing quality: The printing quality of sheet-fed offset printing blankets may be affected by factors such as printing machine performance, printing materials, and printing environment.

Production costs: The production costs of sheet-fed offset printing blankets are higher, resulting in increased printing costs.

Scope of application: Single-fed offset printing blankets are suitable for small-volume, high-precision printing needs, but may not be suitable for large-scale, low-precision printing tasks.
