Abstracts

The global Small and Medium-Sized Public Law Enforcement Vessel market size is predicted to grow from US$ 626 million in 2025 to US$ 1020 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 7.4% from 2026 to 2032.

In 2024, the global production of Small and Medium-Sized Public Law Enforcement Vessel will reach 235, with an average selling price of US$2.54184 million per vessel. The cost accounts for 82.87%, of which direct materials account for 71.20%, and the gross profit margin is 7.86%. Public Law Enforcement Vessels (PLEVs) are widely used by maritime, customs, maritime surveillance, port and shipping, fishery administration, public security and border defense, water police, water administration, and flood control departments responsible for safeguarding maritime sovereignty and maintaining order in waters. These vessels, such as patrol boats, law enforcement boats, fishery administration vessels, and anti-smuggling boats, are used for public law enforcement and the protection of national sovereignty and maritime rights. Since the 21st century, my country has vigorously developed its marine economy and accelerated the development of a strong maritime nation. As crucial equipment for safeguarding national maritime rights and interests, PLEVs have consistently represented a growing market. Demand for vessels from law enforcement agencies such as maritime, customs, port and shipping, fishery administration, and public security continues to grow. In recent years, with the continuous expansion of my country's marine law enforcement waters and the increasing demands for law enforcement, PLEVs have shown a trend toward larger main dimensions, greater maneuverability and hull strength, and advanced information integration.
