According to our LPI (LP Information) latest study, the global Soda Photomask market size was valued at US$ 162.8 million in 2023. With growing demand in downstream market, the Soda Photomask is forecast to a readjusted size of US$ 200.1 million by 2030 with a CAGR of 3.0% during review period.

The research report highlights the growth potential of the global Soda Photomask market. Soda Photomask are expected to show stable growth in the future market. However, product differentiation, reducing costs, and supply chain optimization remain crucial for the widespread adoption of Soda Photomask. Market players need to invest in research and development, forge strategic partnerships, and align their offerings with evolving consumer preferences to capitalize on the immense opportunities presented by the Soda Photomask market.

A photomask is an opaque plate with holes or transparencies that allow light to shine through in a defined pattern. They are commonly used in photolithography and the production of integrated circuits (ICs or 'chips') in particular. Masks are used to produce a pattern on a substrate, normally a thin slice of silicon known as a wafer in the case of chip manufacturing. Photomask Materials The most common types of glass for manufacturing masks are Quartz and Soda Lime. Quartz is more expensive, but has the advantage of a much lower coefficient of Thermal Expansion, which means it expands less if the mask gets warm during use and is also transparent at deeper Ultraviolet (DUV) wavelengths, where Soda Lime glass is opaque. Quartz needs to be used where the wavelength being used to expose the mask is less than or equal to 365nm (i-line).

Global key players of soda photomask include Toppan, Photronics, ShenZheng QingVi, etc. The top three players hold a share over 77%. Asia-Pacific is the largest market, has a share about 69%, followed by North America and Europe, with share 16% and 5%, separately.
