The global Solid Polydextrose market size is predicted to grow from US$ 184 million in 2025 to US$ 264 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.4% from 2026 to 2032.

Polydextrose is a synthetic polymer of glucose. It is commonly used as a replacement for sugar, starch, and fat in commercial beverages, cakes, candies, dessert mixes, breakfast cereals, gelatins, frozen desserts, puddings, and salad dressings.

Polydextrose is frequently used as an ingredient in low-carb, sugar-free, and diabetic cooking recipes. It is also used as a humectant, stabiliser, and thickening agent.

Polydextrose is a food ingredient classified as soluble fiber by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) as well as Health Canada, as of April 2013. It is frequently used to increase the dietary fiber content of food, to replace sugar, and to reduce calories and fat content. It is a multi-purpose food ingredient synthesized from dextrose (glucose), plus about 10 percent sorbitol and 1 percent citric acid. Its E number is E1200. The FDA approved it in 1981.

Global key players of Polydextrose include Tate & Lyle, Danisco, Henan Tailijie Biotech, Shandong Bailong Chuangyuan Bio-Tech, Runloy Biotech, etc. The top five players hold a share over 92%. China is the largest market, with a share of 38 percent, followed by North America and Europe, with share 34% and 17%, separately. In terms of product type, Polydextrose Powder is the largest segment, occupied for 99%. And in terms of application, Health Products has a share of 24%.

As the global food and beverage market expands, the application of polydextrose in different regions is also increasing, especially in Asia Pacific and other emerging markets.

Consumers' increasing concern for health and nutrition has driven the demand for low-calorie, low-sugar and high-fiber foods. As a soluble dietary fiber, polydextrose is in line with the trend of healthy consumption. As the market for low-sugar and sugar-free foods expands, polydextrose has gained more and more popularity as an additive to replace sugar.

Polydextrose is used as a thickener, stabilizer, sweetener and fiber additive in the food industry to improve the texture and taste of food while reducing sugar and calories.
