The global Stainless steel Magnetic Pump market size is predicted to grow from US$ 452 million in 2025 to US$ 668 million in 2031; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.7% from 2025 to 2031.

The impact of the latest U.S. tariff measures and the corresponding policy responses from countries worldwide on market competitiveness, regional economic performance, and supply chain configurations will be comprehensively evaluated in this report.

The stainless steel magnetic pump is a magnetic pump composed of a pump body, a magnetic actuator and an electric motor. The key component, the magnetic actuator, consists of an outer magnetic rotor, an inner magnetic rotor and a non-magnetic isolation sleeve. Its working principle is to drive the outer magnetic rotor to rotate through the motor. The magnetic field can penetrate the air gap and non-magnetic materials, driving the inner magnetic rotor connected to the impeller to rotate synchronously, realizing non-contact transmission of power and converting the dynamic seal into a static seal. .

With the tightening of global energy supply and increasing environmental protection requirements, energy conservation and emission reduction have become an inevitable trend for enterprise development. In the future, stainless steel magnetic pumps will pay more attention to high efficiency and energy saving, improve the energy utilization efficiency of equipment, and save energy costs for enterprises.
