Abstracts

The global Strong Aroma Baijiu market size is predicted to grow from US$ 41518 million in 2025 to US$ 51707 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 3.2% from 2026 to 2032.

Strong Aroma Baijiu is one of the major aroma categories of Chinese Baijiu, produced mainly from grain-based raw materials such as sorghum and wheat through traditional solid-state fermentation, distillation, aging, and blending processes. Its production typically relies on long-term fermentation using pit fermentation systems or similar fermentation environments, forming a flavor profile dominated by ester compounds such as ethyl hexanoate. Strong Aroma Baijiu is characterized by a rich aroma, soft and sweet taste, full-bodied texture, harmonious flavor structure, and long-lasting aftertaste. The production process involves multiple stages including raw material preparation, Daqu production, fermentation, distillation, storage, and blending, with complex microbial fermentation and flavor compound accumulation playing important roles. Strong Aroma Baijiu is widely consumed in premium liquor markets, business occasions, gifting scenarios, and traditional Chinese liquor culture markets.

Key Findings

Strong Aroma Baijiu is one of the largest and most influential Baijiu categories in China

Multi-grain and traditional pit-fermented products represent major premium market segments

Sichuan and Jianghuai regions are core production areas with distinct aroma characteristics

Premium Strong Aroma Baijiu continues to strengthen its position in high-value

consumption scenarios

In 2025, global sales volume of strong aroma baijiu is projected to reach 1.29 billion liters, with a production capacity of approximately 1.8 billion liters, an average selling price of $32.9 per liter, and an average gross profit margin of 55%–65%.

Market Trends

The Strong Aroma Baijiu industry is evolving from traditional production toward higher-quality, standardized and differentiated development. Producers are increasing investment in intelligent brewing systems, fermentation process optimization, quality traceability and aging management to improve product consistency. Consumer preferences are gradually shifting from basic consumption toward personalized taste experiences, premium products and cultural value, driving greater differentiation among traditional strong aroma styles, soft aroma styles and aged products.

Market Dynamics

Drivers

The development of Strong Aroma Baijiu is supported by continued demand for premium spirits, the expansion of branded liquor consumption, upgrading of consumer preferences and increasing recognition of high-quality traditional Chinese spirits. The integration of advanced production management systems and quality control technologies is also improving manufacturing efficiency and product stability.

Restraints

The market faces limitations from long production cycles, dependence on fermentation conditions, strict quality control requirements and increasing costs associated with raw materials, aging storage and brand development. The traditional brewing process requires substantial accumulated experience and production resources, creating barriers for new market entrants.

Opportunities

Opportunities are emerging from premiumization, overseas market expansion, younger consumer engagement and the development of innovative product formats. Producers with strong brand assets, differentiated flavor profiles and advanced digital production capabilities are positioned to capture evolving consumer demand.

Challenges

The industry faces challenges from intensified competition, changing consumption patterns, regulatory requirements and the need to balance traditional craftsmanship with modern production efficiency. Maintaining consistent quality while expanding production capacity remains a key strategic issue for market participants.

Industry Chain Analysis

The Strong Aroma Baijiu industry chain covers upstream grain cultivation and supply, Daqu starter production, packaging materials and fermentation-related resources; midstream brewing enterprises responsible for fermentation, distillation, aging, blending and quality control; and downstream distribution channels including traditional retail, e-commerce platforms, catering channels and direct consumer sales. Value creation mainly occurs through fermentation technology, aging management, brand development and channel efficiency, with premium products relying heavily on long-term craftsmanship accumulation and brand recognition.

Segment Insights

Strong Aroma Baijiu can be segmented by raw material structure, fermentation method, product quality level and market positioning. Multi-grain Strong Aroma Baijiu has become an important premium segment due to its complex flavor structure and balanced taste characteristics, while traditional mud pit fermentation products maintain strong market recognition because of their distinctive cellar aroma and craftsmanship value. From a positioning perspective, premium and high-end products represent the most valuable segments, supported by brand influence, aging capability and differentiated consumer demand.

Downstream Market Opportunities

The downstream market mainly covers household consumption, business dining, social occasions, gifting and premium spirits consumption scenarios. Demand is increasingly concentrated on products offering stronger brand identity, higher quality perception and cultural value. International market development also provides opportunities for Chinese Baijiu producers to expand awareness among overseas consumers and establish new consumption channels.

Regional Insights

info@marketpublishers.com

China remains the core market and production base for Strong Aroma Baijiu, with Sichuan, Jiangsu, Anhui and other major liquor-producing regions forming important industrial clusters. Sichuan-style Strong Aroma Baijiu is recognized for rich cellar aroma and strong flavor intensity, while Jianghuai-style products are characterized by softer taste and greater balance. Regional differentiation in brewing microorganisms, fermentation environments and consumer preferences continues to shape market structure and product innovation.

Competitive Landscape Analysis

The Strong Aroma Baijiu market presents a diversified competitive structure combining traditional heritage producers, large-scale branded liquor enterprises and regional specialists. Leading companies generally compete through advantages in historic brewing resources, production technology, brand equity, distribution networks and premium product portfolios. Competitive differentiation is increasingly focused on fermentation capability, product innovation, consumer experience and international market development rather than simple production expansion.

Report Scope

LP Information, Inc. (LPI) ' newest research report, the “Strong Aroma Baijiu Industry Forecast” looks at past sales and reviews total world Strong Aroma Baijiu sales in 2025, providing a comprehensive analysis by region and market sector of projected Strong Aroma Baijiu sales for 2026 through 2032. With Strong Aroma Baijiu sales broken down by region, market sector and sub-sector, this report provides a detailed analysis in US$ millions of the world Strong Aroma Baijiu industry.

This Insight Report provides a comprehensive analysis of the global Strong Aroma Baijiu landscape and highlights key trends related to product segmentation, company formation, revenue, and market share, latest development, and M&A activity. This report also analyzes the strategies of leading global companies with a focus on Strong Aroma Baijiu portfolios and capabilities, market entry strategies, market positions, and geographic footprints, to better understand these firms’ unique position in an accelerating global Strong Aroma Baijiu market.

This Insight Report evaluates the key market trends, drivers, and affecting factors shaping the global outlook for Strong Aroma Baijiu and breaks down the forecast by Type, by Application, geography, and market size to highlight emerging pockets of opportunity.
