Tonsil sponges are medical sponges specifically designed for use in tonsillectomy or other oral and throat surgeries. These sponges are sterile, absorbent, and disposable, and are used to absorb blood, saliva, and other bodily fluids during surgery.

Tonsil sponges are usually made from soft, highly absorbent materials such as medical-grade cotton or synthetic fibers. They are designed to fit comfortably in the oral cavity and throat, allowing surgeons to maintain a clear surgical field while minimizing patient discomfort.

During tonsillectomy or other throat surgeries, tonsil sponges are placed in the surgical site to absorb blood and other fluids. This helps keep the surgical area clean and reduces the risk of contamination and infection. Additionally, the sponges can also be used to apply pressure to control bleeding.

After surgery, the tonsil sponges are removed and discarded properly. They should never be reused, as this can increase the risk of infection and other complications.

The global Tonsil Sponges market size is projected to grow from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million in 2030; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2024 to 2030.
