Abstracts

The global U-Trough Conveyors market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2026 to 2032.

The U-trough screw conveyor is widely used for conveying of bulk solids such as powders, granules, flakes and pellets. Construction is such that a helical screw flight is welded on a center pipe depending on the overall length of the screw conveyors.

U-trough conveyors are a type of screw conveyors that have a U-shaped trough that contains a rotating helical screw blade. The screw blade moves the material along the trough and discharges it at the end. U-trough conveyors are used for conveying various bulk materials, such as powders, granules, grains, etc., in different industries, such as agriculture, food, chemical, pharmaceutical, etc. The industry trend of U-trough conveyors is expected to grow in the coming years, as they offer advantages such as low cost, high efficiency, easy maintenance, and versatility. They can handle different types of materials, capacities, and configurations, and can be customized to suit specific applications. The demand for U-trough conveyors is driven by factors such as the increasing demand for bulk material handling equipment, the rising adoption of automation and digitalization, the innovation of new products and features, and the expansion of end-user industries. U-trough conveyors are a significant segment of this market, as they are widely used in various applications such as agriculture, food processing, mining, cement, etc.
