An urgent care center is a walk-in clinic that focuses on caring for patients who need care right away but are not having a life-threatening emergency. Urgent care centers primarily treat injuries or illnesses requiring immediate care but not serious enough to require an emergency department (ED) visit. Urgent care centers are distinguished from similar ambulatory healthcare centers such as emergency departments and convenient care clinics by their scope of conditions treated and available facilities on-site. Urgent care is similar to retail health clinics already operated by Walgreens, CVS, and Walmart in that they are open daily, evenings, and on weekends to treat routine maladies. But urgent care centers also generally offer more in the form of x-rays for potential broken bones, have the ability to provide intravenous fluids and phlebotomy services, and have closer ties with physicians.
