The global Vegan Steak market size is predicted to grow from US$ 688 million in 2025 to US$ 1078 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.7% from 2026 to 2032.

Vegan steak is a plant-based alternative to traditional animal-based steak, designed to replicate the taste, texture, and experience of consuming steak without using meat. It is typically made from a combination of plant-based ingredients such as soy, wheat gluten, mushrooms, and other sources to create a meat-like product. The market for vegan steak has grown as more people adopt vegetarian or vegan diets and seek ethical and sustainable protein sources.

The market for vegan steak has experienced significant growth, driven by the increasing interest in plant-based diets, environmental concerns, and ethical considerations related to animal agriculture. Consumers who follow vegetarian or vegan diets, or those looking to reduce their meat consumption, seek alternatives that provide a similar sensory experience to traditional meat. This demand has resulted in a variety of plant-based steak products entering the market.
