Video Intercom Door Station which is also named as the video door-phone or video door entry devices and equipment, is a stand-alone intercom system used to manage calls made at the entrance to a building with access controlled by audiovisual communication between the inside and outside. The main feature of video door entry is that it enables the person indoors to identify the visitor and, if (and only if) they wish, engage in conversation and/or open the door to allow access to the person calling.

The driving factors for video intercom access control systems mainly include the following points: Safety needs: With the development of society, people's safety needs for the living environment continue to increase. The video intercom access control system can effectively improve the security of a community or building. Through dual recognition of images and sounds, it ensures the accurate identification of visitors and prevents criminals from entering, thus ensuring the personal and property safety of residents. Convenience needs: The video intercom access control system can remotely open the door to avoid being unable to enter the room due to forgetting the key or door lock failure, providing convenience to residents. At the same time, it is more convenient for visitors to contact residents and avoid long waits. Intelligent demand: With the continuous development of science and technology, people's demand for intelligence is getting higher and higher. The video intercom access control system can be linked with other smart home systems to realize intelligent life scenarios. For example, when opening the door, it can automatically link the turning on of indoor lights, air conditioners and other equipment to improve the quality of life and convenience. Property management needs: For property management, video intercom access control systems can improve management efficiency and service quality. Through this system, property managers can remotely monitor the security status of the community, discover and deal with security issues in a timely manner, and also conveniently register and manage visitors. Policy promotion: As the country continues to increase its support for smart cities, smart homes and other fields, the promotion of government policies also provides opportunities for the development of video intercom access control systems.

The Asia-Pacific region is the largest consumer market for Video Intercom Door Station, accounting for over 50% of the global market share. This dominance can be attributed to the rapid urbanization, growing middle class, and increasing demand for smart home products in countries such as China, India, Japan, and South Korea. In these countries, the adoption of Video Intercom Door Station has risen significantly, driven by the need for enhanced security solutions in residential and commercial buildings.
