Abstracts

The global Virtual Personal Stylist market size is predicted to grow from US$ 4914 million in 2025 to US$ 14560 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 17.1% from 2026 to 2032.

A virtual personal stylist is a digital styling service or AI-assisted professional that provides personalized fashion and outfit recommendations through online platforms. Using data such as body type, color preferences, lifestyle, and shopping habits, the virtual stylist curates clothing suggestions tailored to each user's style and needs. This service may operate through mobile apps, websites, or chat-based systems, often integrating virtual try-on, AI algorithms, and image recognition to enhance accuracy and user experience.

The virtual personal stylist industry chain can be seen as a combination of the digital service chain and the fashion product chain. It primarily consists of information flow, service flow, and product flow, and generally favors an asset-light digital model. The virtual personal stylist industry integrates AI-driven styling design, a digital platform, and optional fashion product integration. It encompasses data and content supply, platform operations run by human or AI stylists, and end-user services, emphasizing personalized recommendations, flexible delivery, and user engagement. The gross profit margin in 2024 will be approximately between 50% and 90%.

United States market for Virtual Personal Stylist is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.

China market for Virtual Personal Stylist is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.
