Abstracts

The global HVAC equipment industry is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5% from 2015 to 2020. The major drivers of this market are increasing construction spending, rising disposable income, and renovation of existing building activities. Changing lifestyles, new technology in equipment, and growing urbanization are expected to impact the market dynamics. Asia Pacific (APAC) has been the top region in terms of HVAC demand due to the low penetration rate, continuous growth in residential and commercial construction activities in China and India, and the rise in consumer spending on luxury goods.

Lucintel, a leading global management consulting and market research firm, has analyzed the global HVAC equipment industry by region and has come up with a comprehensive research report, "Global HVAC Equipment Industry 2015-2020: Trend, Forecast, and Opportunity Analysis."
