Paper Cup Market Insights

Lucintel forecasts that hot paper cup is expected to witness higher growth over the forecast period due to the significant demand for hot cups at fast service restaurants and smaller beverage serving places that sell hot tea and coffee, owing to their affordable cost and convenience.

Commercial is expected to remain the largest segment due to the increasing practice of providing employees with beverages in the workplace and extensive use of these cups in various commercial places such as restaurants, hotels, and cafes.

APAC will remain the largest region due to the huge production and consumption of these cups in China and strict national banding rules from the Indian government for plastic products like bags, cups, and straws.
